Social Activities

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Marshall Martin and children entertained with a dinner party on Sunday evening, Nov. 11th, in honor of Mr. Marshall Martin's seventieth birthday.

Those present for the occasion were Mrs. E. Kinkle Martin, Mrs. Lytton Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Howlette B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie N. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Graydon artin, Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Mcguinson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Martin, Stephanie, Nathan and Timothy Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Martin, Cindee and Nita Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Page, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin, Lewis Martin, Edward Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Graham, R. T. Mcguinson, Miss Patricia Wells, John A.Martin, Dottridge Martin, Mrs. Charles F. James and Miss Birdie Harvey.

Spanish Teacher Speaks To WMU

James Hall, AHS instructor in Spanish will speak on Wednesday, Nov. 21 to the Women's Missionary Union at Red Oak Bapti:t Church, Oakville.

WMU members at New Hope Baptist Church heard him speak of Mexico, its customs, and people on Nov. 9, and Liberty Baptist Church, on Nov. 7.

Each year Hall spends time in Mexico studying at the University of Mexico and touring. Usually he is dressed in a native costume as he speaks to church and civic groups in this area.

Hazel Moon To Speak At G. A. Rally

Associational G. A. Rally at Liberty Baptist Church on Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 6:15 p.m. Hazel Moon, missionary, will speak and show slides. All leaders and G. A's are urged to attend, as future plans for a banquet celebrating the 50th anniversary of G. A's are to be discussed. Bring a bag or box lunch and drinks will be furnished.

Cafeteria Menu

Monday, Nov. 19— Cream of tomato soup, with crackers, peanut butter sandwich, potato chips, sliced peaches with cookie, pt. milk.

Tuesday, Nov. 20 — Chili-concarne, green peas, boiled potatoes, pineapple upside - down cake, hot corn bread with butter, pt. of milk.

Wednesday, Nov. 21 — Turkey with dressing and gravy, cranberry sauce, candied sweet potatoes, green lima beans, hot yeast bread with butter, ice cream ½ pt. milk.

Did you know that your local health department will take a sample of your private water supply at no cost to you? They will submit it for bacteriological analysis. Find out if your water is pure and free of contamination.

Did you know that your most available source of a dish "sanitizer" is a mixture of approximately three ounces of household bleach to five gallons of clear water.

Mother Goose And Her "Family"

First, second, and third graders of Mrs. A. W. Covington's class the Vera Elementary School are shown above in costumes they will wear for the P-TA meeting on Nov. 20 at 7:30. Old Mother Goose is Debbie Reynolds. Little Girl is Diane Wooldrige; Lary Bug, Susan Irby;; Georgy Porgy, Paul Gunter; Robin-a-Bobbin, Donnie Roach; Jack Be Nimble, Ricky Dunn; Little Boy Blue, Larry Ferguson; Bobby Snooks, Kenneth Franklin; Contrary Mary, Cheryl Joby; Little Bo-Peep, Brenda Atmond; Dapple Gray, Larry Coleman; Betty Blue, Linda Roach; Hot Cross Buns, Donald Drinkard; The Clock, Steven Kanipe; Baa, Baa, Black Sheep, Theresa Carter, and Old King Cole, Roger O'Brien. Other students holding pictures are Bobby Smith, Diane Smith, Robert Bryant, and Lewis Bryant.

Personal Mentio

Mrs. Kenneth Coleman, Mrs. Lloyd Hudson, Mrs. Gene Campbell and Mrs. Ralph Coleman, of Lynchburg, spent Monday in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Blackwell motored to Newport News to visit Mr. Blackwell's brother, Frank, who continues ill at the home.

Mrs. Mattie Robertson spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Chernault of Route 3.

Mrs. Craddock McWare and sons spent Sunday with Mrs. Vera Wood.

HD Schedule

The Home Demonstration Club schedule for week of November 19-23.

Tuesday, November 20 — Appomattox Club will meet at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Frank Chuchek.

Tuesday, November 20 —Spout Spring Club will meet at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. Aubrey McFadden.

TV Teacher Summarizes Progress In County-Wide Science Courses

As a part of its coverage of American Education Week, the TIMES VIRGINIAN took a second look at the classes made throughout the county in the presentation of 7th and 8th grade science courses.

This newspaper first reported the addition of TV teaching to the junior high curriculum and then published a photo of an actual science demonstration given at the local high school as a follow up to the first of the year's science telecasts.

As of this September all 7th and 8th graders were enrolled in the 8 unit science series. Each Tuesday and Thursday morning at 9:30 the classes turn on their TV sets to channel 13 for lectures, films, and demonstrations by James Earl, Lynchburg science teacher.

County Superintendent Earl Smith stated this week that the teachers with whom he has talked about this new teaching method believe that it is a very valuable supplement to their program.

They take the basic TV program and use it as a starting point to expand subject matter as suits their individual classes. Each teacher receives an outline of program material well in advance of the program date.

James Earl, the TV teacher, speaking Sunday, Nov. 11 in a special telecast on Channel 13, reported that a total of 88 schools in this and nearby counties are enrolled in the program.

Although he says that Educational TV can never replace the teacher, he stated that "we hope that we will find this an effective supplement."

Limitations and Strong Points

He listed limitations as 1. Educational TV is difficult to speed up or slow down. 2. TV is a "formal" medium, and a "one-way" teaching situation, not always to best advantage to the learner. 3. Pupils cannot interrupt the TV teacher for further explanation of a difficult point in the lesson.

Against these limitations he listed strong points, 1. The studio teacher has more time than the average teacher to prepare lessons. 2. Open circuit TV (as is the case with Channel 13) offers parents an opportunity to see and participate in their children's learning process. 3. Studies show that youngsters watch TV no matter what the program. Therefore, TV teaching is a "natural".

Standardized tests administered here and in other counties reveal an average grade of 89-85, Earl reported.

The eight units under study include Science, a Total Concept, The Universe, its Scope and Composition, The Earth, Sun and Planets, The Earth, a Terrestrial Entity Rockety, Matter, Energy, and the Science of Living Things.

The expense of the TV instructor is borne by the local school board, Superintendent Smith said. The TV sets are purchased through NDEA (National Defense Education Association) funds, some state funds, and local funds.

This is perhaps the "Golden Age of Science" said TV Teacher Earl on Sunday. And TV teaching can be an effective supplement in learning about the world in which we live.

Everyone Reads The Classified Section

Vera PTA

A program of Mother Goose rhymes will be presented at the Vera School on Tuesday at 7:30. It was previously announced that Nov. 27 would be the date, but the meeting has been moved up to Nov. 20. Mrs. A. W. Covington wrote the program, and colorful costumes will help bring the story book characters to life.

BOOK WEEK SPOUT SPRING sv

Helps For Bride In Free Packet

When the honeymoon is over and the housework begins, that's the time a bride needs help — in buying food and preparing meals for her husband, and in keeping their clothes and home in good shape.

To help her over the first hurdles of homemaking, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has assembled 10 publications in a special "Packet for the Bride."

Folded in an attractive pink and white cover are a daily food guide, a recipe booklet, a pamphlet on how to prevent rug-dow, another bulletin on getting out stains, tips on home laundering, suggestions for taking care of frozen foods, and several guides for buying foods according to USDA grades.

If you're a recent bride or plan to be married soon, send for this attractive "Packet for the Bride." It comes with a special note from the Secretary of Agriculture and a list of other publications available from the Department.

The packet is free. Write to the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Postmaster H. W. Conner and Frank Coleman, Postmaster at Prospect, attended the dedication of the new Post Office at North Garden on Saturday.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Moore, of Farmville, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore. Others visiting in this home were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wood and Cheryl Ann, of Madison Heights and Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, of Lynchburg.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Phelps, of Richmond, spent the week end with his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Phelps.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Moore, Jr. are the proud parents of a baby girl born to them on Nov. 6th at Virginia Baptist Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mays visited Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore on last Tuesday night.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore visited Mrs. Alfred Moore on last Thursday night.

* * *

Mrs. Calvin Johnson has returned from Richmond where she spent several days attending the General Federated Daughters of the Confederacy Convention held at the John Marshall Hotel.

* * *

Miss Susie Fontaine Coleman, of Farmville, spent part of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Lloyd Vaughan.

* * *

John Ivey Holland, of Washington, D. C., spebt the week end at his home here. He left Monday for Tennessee where he is attending a K A Engineering Convention.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace, and son, Scottie, of Farmville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vaughan Monday evening.

Girl Of Month

Miss Merlyn Kay Martin was chosen Girl of the Month at the October meeting of the Future Homemakers Club. Merlyn Kay has been a very active member of the club for the past three years. She is serving as president for the current year and is past vice-president. She is also active in the Campbell-Appomattox Federation of Future Homemakers, now serving as president. Merlyn Kay entered the dress revue for both the Farmville Fair and Lynchburg Farm Show, placing in both. She was last years winner in the Vogue Contest sponsored by the Jr. Womans Club. Merlyn Kay was a delegate to the State Convention held at Old Point Comfort in June, 1962, assisting Pat Thomas, state vice-president, in presenting her state project to the delegation.

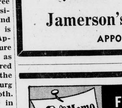
A Christmas Gift with Teenage Flair!
Speidel
Both feature famous TRI-LOK closing and are handsomely gift packaged.
Looks like a million ...costs only $4.95 plus tax
Speidel
BIG BOY-BEST GIRL
Give each other a gift for a lifetime . . . one that looks like a million, yet costs so little.
WILKES JEWELERS
111 N. Church Street
Phone 352-2741
Appomattox, Va.

BOWL FOR FUN... AND HEALTH

Two - somes, fun family groups ... world of thrilling sport in bowling on our well-kept lanes! Congenial sphere. Come

Jamerson's Bowling A

APPOMATTOX, VA.



Memo

IT'S CHRISTMAS EVE and time to remember your Doctor's 24 hr. DEPENDABLE SERVICE.

FIRST-OF-THE-M VALUE

AT OUR Rexall

GIVE A KODAK GIFT THIS CHRISTMAS

CHOOSE FROM OUR SELECTION OF POPULAR KODAK CAMERA just say "Charge it"

When your doctor prescribes, rely on DEPENDABLE PRESCRIPTION

SEE THESE SPECIAL VALU

Arpege Spray Cologn
Bath Powder Set
My Sin Dusting Powd
Mist Gift Set
Desert Flower Gift S

OUR Rexall STORE IS YOUR VITAMIN HEAD

SPENCE
Drug Store, In
APPOMATTOX, VA.

Virginia's Art

in the collections of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Four in One

"Herdswoman and her Daughter," painted by the Flemish master Jan Siberechts, might be described as a landscape, a portrait, an animal painting or even a still life. Although Dutch and Flemish artists of the 17th Century excelled in many kinds of painting it is unusual to see four in such masterful combination. A recent acquisition of the air-conditioned Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond, this 17th Century oil painting hangs in the Flemish Gallery.

Williams SHOES

Everything about this stacked heel pump says 62 . . . its crushed leather texture, its square-off toe, its perforated vampline collar. Have it in green or black.

Style 2663 2668

$3.98

Pamper your foot with comfort—but do it in the smartest way possible — with a mocc-stitched loafer of black leather, Vulcanized below.

Style 508

$3.98

Brown smooth & Reptile Leather. Blacks smooth and reptile leather pump.

$4.98

REYNOLDS STORE

Linden St. Phone 352-3612

APPOMATTOX, VA.

Thanksgiving MENU
FRUIT CUP
ROAST TURKEY WITH CORN BREAD DRESSING AND CRANBERRY SAUCE
Asparagus, Encasserole, Buttered Squash, Pumpkin Pie. Coffee, Tea or Milk. Homemade rolls.
$1.50
MAUDE'S RESTAURANT
ROUTE 460 WEST
APPOMATTOX, VA.

On The Way For A Touchdown

Clarke. No. 1, streaks down the ... play for one of his four touch-... led Appomattox to a 22-12 ... the Jayees of VES. Showing a ... speed and deception running ...

Jimmy led the way in a game that was filled with exciting plays and good team work. The Appomattox Jayvees have had a good season, which is a good indication of things to come in future years at AHS.

News

...Church

...organist. Pastor ... impressed ... guests of the time ... series entitled ... me on This ... and Book ... study was view ... require service ... people depend ... the sermons they ... hear which ... they will not be ... his lack of knowledge ... of ancient ... We should ... genius opportunity ... and counsel to ... Jesus Christ ... the scriptures ... the truth or error ... dealing with God ... dealing God ... for solid ... on solid ... God would be ... to help in all ... Ps. 91: 11, 12. ... for the irregular ... end of all ... The day of the ... space. Zeph. 1:

...fruit of crime, an- ... There are ... and sea, ... not made it un- ... spiritual from ... moment. Only ... by faith in this ... will be able to ...

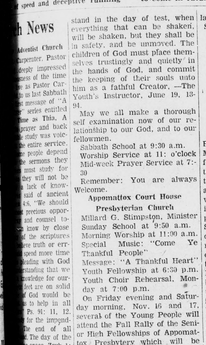
HD Schedule

The Home Demonstration Club schedule for week of November 19-23.

Tuesday, November 20 — Appomattox Club will meet at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Frank Chuchek.

Tuesday, November 20 —Spout Spring Club will meet at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. Aubrey McFadden.

Thanksgiving Dinner Menu



KSGIVING DAY DINNER MENU

— Chilled Fruit Cocktail.

Roast Tom Turkey with Oyster Dressing, ... Cranberry Sauce, or Baked Sugar ... Sauce.

Fresh Tossed Salad with French Dressing.

ES — CHOICE OF TWO — Snow Flake ... Yams, Corn Pudding, Green Lima ...

HOT ROLLS AND BUTTER

Coffee, Tea or Milk.

— Choice of Mince Meat, Pumpkin Pie ... Cake, Mixed Nuts, Mints and Candies.

$1.75

Parkway Restaurant

One Mile Northeast Of Appomattox On Route 24

with Ivey Holland, adult superintendent, assisted by Ben Wheeler, Church School superintendent, in charge of the Discussion group. The Commission on Education will convene at 7:45 p.m. with Mrs. David M. Trent, chairman, presideing. All members of the Commission are urged to be present for this very important meeting, in preparation for the Advent Season of the Church School; and formulating suggestions to be followed during the annual School of Missions to be held in January and February.

The Methodist men and visitors will enjoy monthly supper meeting, Wednesday evening, Nov 21st, beginning at 6:30 O'clock, in Social Hall of the church, with Horace D. Folks, president; J. Newton Jennings, vice - chairman; Charlie C. Carter, secretary and Harry G. Lawson, treasurer, in charge. The special Christmas project will be discussed, and comments made about the landscaping of the church lawn being sponsored by the Men' Club.

Spout Spring

Nov. 15 — Mr. and Mrs. Winston Walton and Mr. and Mrs. George Carroo and sons spent Sunday at Blackburg with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carson and new infant boby.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jamerson and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Franklin were visitors in the home with Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Jamerson, Sunday.

The W. S. C. S. of Salem Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. George Carson.

The Social Family Night of Salem Church will be on Thursday night, Miss Hazel Moon will be guest speaker and tell of her work in Africa.

The Spout Spring H. D. Club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Pauline McFadden. Each member is asked to bring a new idea for Christmas.

Route 1

Nov. 15 — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nash spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. D. T. Chesham, of Gladys.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nash, of Lynchburg, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Williamson, of Concord, and Ben Tweedy, of Rustburg, all visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nash, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nash visited the Roy Booth family, all of them are on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Eastman, of Colonial Heights, were guests of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Jr.

Mrs. Ellen Nash entered the hospital on Monday and underwent dental surgery last Wednesday at Lynchburg General Hospital. She returned home on Friday.

Rev. Eli Layne, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Tibbs and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Jr. visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nash, Sunday night.

T. C. Torrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lankford Torrence has entered the Air Force.

Mrs. Franklin Marshall visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Marshall on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Nash, and family, of Lynchburg visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Nash, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nash visited the Roy Booth family, all of them are on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blanks were home on leave from the army. Mr. Blanks is son of J. D. Blanks. All of Mr. Blank's children were home for a early Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Eastman, of Colonial Heights, were guests of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Jr.

Mrs. Ellen Nash entered the hospital on Monday and underwent dental surgery last Wednesday at Lynchburg General Hospital. She returned home on Friday.

Rev. Eli Layne, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Tibbs and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Jr. visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nash, Sunday night.

T. C. Torrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lankford Torrence has entered the Air Force.

Mrs. Franklin Marshall visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Marshall on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Nash, and family, of Lynchburg visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter

Book Week November 11-17

Some New Books For The Youngsters This Fall

By Dr. Rosemary Sprague

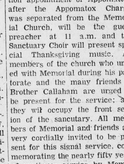
GOLDEN KEYS

"One gift the fairies gave me— Three
They commonly bestowed of yore—
The love of books, the Golden Key
That opens the enchanted door."

One hundred years ago, Andrew Lang, poet and collector of fairy tales, thus described the most precious gift that any child can receive — a golden key to unlock a door leading to a world of enchantment, freely given and valuable beyond price.

We, a century later, have to no small extent lost that sense of wonder which led Andrew Lang to regard reading as something almost miraculous. Perhaps this is why we, in our time, hear so much about children who do not read well, or who do not read at all. When reading is brought down to the level of a "Communication skill", or, even more horrible, referred to as a "tool," it must be an unusual child indeed who does not, subconsciously at least, put books in the same category as saws and hammers, and leave them severely alone. Nothing to do as a last resort when the television is out of order. On the other hand, we can take comfort in the knowledge—that referred to as a "tool," it must be apeared; and, if we ourselves possess it, there are constant opportunities to put it into the hands of the children we love. One of these opportunities is Book Week, which is now being observed all over the United States. For one entire week, beginning November 11, publishers, newspapers, libraries, schools, and the general reading public are asked to give special attention to the golden books for children — to the golden boys, new and old, which open the doors to knowledge, experience and pleasure which the child may discover.

Let us realize, first of all, that children's books today are not a lower echelon of publishing. They may have been fifty years ago, but now they account for an enormous proportion of any publisher's yearly revenue. Nor are the authors of children's books lesser members of the writing profession. Most certainly they don't write for children because they are incapable of writing for adults. Many write successfully for both. But they write "juveniles" because they feel that they have something especially important to say to children. And, incidentally, they must say that something well, for children are frequently a more critical audience than adults. Or, if we ourselves



About the Author

Dr. Rosemary Sprague, native of New York, graduate of Bryn Mawr College and Western Reserve University, is associate professor at Longwood College. She is currently teaching a class in children's literature. An author herself, she has written and published seven historical novels for the teen agers, her latest being, Fife and Fandango, published in 1961.

passages sufficiently stimulating. But children will not accept a hero who is too good, too heroic, or too anything else. They know they have faults; aren't their elders always telling them so? And the heroes they admire must have faults, too. Only, unlike most adult novels, the hero must conquer his faults. The child or teen-age reader likes to read about people like themselves, engaged in struggles that they can recognize. Furthermore, they want to see the truths which their home and church have instilled in them, and which they know instinctively to be true, confirmed. They want to watch the hero learn that the golden key has no magic in it, that the means is dishonorable; that there is no "royal road" to honorable success; that there is no substitute for courage and integrity; and that the man who dreams of accomplishing the impossible very often does just that, for the human will directed by the hand of God can — indeed has — moved mountains. But the book must never become a sermon. It must have plenty of action and excitement; in short, it must be a good book measured by the highest critical standards. It is not surprising, therefore, that the best children's books often number most discriminating adults among their admirers.

So, to the books themselves. Over two thousand are being published this fall. How to choose among so many? Review space is always limited, and reviewers, this writer included, can mention only a few of the most exceptional in a single article; and the exceptional books this fall number in the hundreds. The first, very exciting news is that a number of old favorites are being brought out in new editions. Macmillan is publishing beautifully illustrated editions of Andersen's and Grimm's FAIRY TALES, THE ARABIAN NIGHTS, and that loveliest of fairy tales, THE KING OF THE GOLDEN RIVER by John Ruskin. Each book is provided with a special introduction, written for the children, not for their parents, by such noted authors as Elizabeth Bowen, Randall Jarrell, and Isak Dinesen.

Macmillan also has a series for the entire family to enjoy together, including LITTLE WOMEN, THE THREE MUSKETEERS, and JANE EYRE, with "afterwords" by the noted critic, Clifton Fadiman. And there are the "Splendor Books," published by Duell, Sloan and Pearce — certainly a well chosen name, especially for their edition of Grimm's FAIRY TALES, a big beautiful book with striking illustrations by Janusz Grabianski on almost every page. Doubleday is bringing out a new volume of Greek Myths, illustrated by Caldecott Medal Winners Ingri and Edgar Parrin d'Aulaire. Finally, there is a new edition of that universally loved classic, THE THREE LITTLE PIGS, published by Viking Press, with William Pen Du Bois' lovely illustrations.

But there are new books, too, which are certain to become classics. For the six to ten years old, there is LAZY TINKA (Viking Press), written and illustrated by Kate Seredy, an appealing story of a lazy little girl who goes into the forest to find the Father who will take care of her so that she will never have to work, and who learns that she can find Him only as she helps others in need. Meindert De Jong, winner of the Newberry Prize for the best children's book with his THE WHEEL ON THE SCHOOL in 1954, has written THE SINGING HILL (Harper's), which tells the story of a lonely little boy and the horse which becomes his companion and friend. Children who are beginning to read for themselves will laugh endlessly at Homer, in Crosby Newell Bonsall's WHO'S A PEST? (Harper) and will cheer him when he proves to his older sisters — Lolly, Molly, Polly and Dolly — that he's not a pest at all. And the entire family will enjoy Alice Goudy's latest, HERE COME THE SQUIRRELS (Scribner) both for the information it contains about every known kind of squirrelsand for Garry MacKenzie's drawings.

For the intermediate readers—ten to twelve or thirteen — there is THE CAT AND MRS. CAREY by Doris Gates (Viking), the story of a remarkable cat who capably takes charge of an entire family because it can talk! Then there is BEOWULF, a retelling of the ancient epic by the capable English writer, Rosemary Sutcliffe, (Dutton). But the most distinguished book this fall for this age group comes from the pen of Elizabeth Janet Gray, who was chosen by the United States Government as tutor to Crown Prince Akihito of Japan. A new book by Miss Gray is a major event, and I WILL ADVENTURE (Viking) is up to her usual standard. It is the story of a stage-struck boy in Elizabethan England, whose adventures in London as page to his father's wealthy cousin include several encounters with Will Shakespeare, through which he learns that playing his role in life is as demanding as any role in the theatre.

It is always difficult to select books for teen-agers because they usually leap into adult books, so quickly; however, there is always that period when the "children's" books are too childish, and adult books demand a maturity that the teenager has not yet attained. In recent years, publishers have paid special attention to that period, and four new books deserve special mention. SCOTLAND'S QUEEN by Marguerite Vance (Dutton) is an unusually good biography of Mary, Queen of Scots. LIGHT A SINGLE CANDLE by Beverly Butler (Dodd Mead) is the moving, inspiring story of a girl's adjustment to a complete new way of life when she loses her sight. A forlorn, but what might easily have become mawkish and oversentimental is exceedingly well handled by this author who writes from her own personal experience. Then, there is AT THE SEVEN STARS, a thrilling historical novel set in 18th century London, by John and Patricia Beatty (Macmillan). Finally, there is SILENCE OVER DUNKIRK, by John R. Tunis (William Morrow), a remarkable story of Sergeant Williams, a member of the British Expeditionary Force, who was left behind at Dunkirk in 1940 to make his escape from France under almost insuperable odds. Though this book seems to bear a "for boys only" label, girls will probably enjoy it, too, when they can pry it from their brothers' hands.

Jaycee Workshop

Bob Mitchell, State Director, and Billy Chenault, local Jaycee president attended a leadership work conference for state - wide Jaycees in Richmond last week.

They report a successful work organization at the regular Jaycee future plans for the state and organization at the regular ay- ee meeting Monday, Nov. 19, at 7:30. Appomattox Gar- ment Factory.

SAVE 30% - 40% On Construction Cost

Under Roof In One Day

Buy complete package excluding plumbing, heating, paint and wiring for this big comfortable . . .

Three-Bedroom Ranch Home

$3,950

Financing Available For Lot Owners

SHELL ONLY, $2,395.00

"TURNKEY" JOB (Completed), $7,850.

All house component parts are precision built in our own plant and delivered as needed. On site construction becomes a matter of assemblying parts instead of pieces, eliminating waste. Compare before you buy!

Meets F. H. A. and V. A. Specifications

Call us for Appointment to see Complete Model - Then Judge For Yourself.

If you are considering Buying a "shell" home, see us before you buy and we will show you the difference.

J. E. SEARS & CO., INC.

Everything To Build Anything

Lynchburg: Dial Victor 5-3409

Appomattox: Dial 2891

BRINGS OUT THE ZEST IN YOU!

How sporty can a car get? Just take a look at the new F-85 Cutlass for '63! Rakish new silhouette . . . comfort-contoured bucket seats . . . center control console* give it the look and feel of a thoroughbred sports car. And its Cutlass V-8 turns out performance to match! Coupe or convertible, the 1963 Cutlass is Oldsmobile's lowest-priced sports car. At your Olds Dealer's now!

*Optional at extra cost

OLDSMOBILE F-85 Cutlass

Exciting new blend of beauty and action . . . in the low-price field!

THERE'S "SOMETHING EXTRA" ABOUT OWNING AN OLDSMOBILE! SEE YOUR LOCAL AUTHORIZED OLDSMOBILE QUALITY DEALER

MOSES MOTOR CO., CHURCH STREET

VA. DEALERS LICENSE NO. 3